CORPORATE SUPPORT

Corporate Support — Service Overview

Establish a substantive US operation — entity, banking, payments, tax and team, delivered by one embedded team.

VeloSync's landing practice serves international companies whose US entity is still a shell: no office, no local employment, no banking depth. We upgrade that entity into an operating company — and, over time, into the group's parent and primary revenue base.

Where companies get stuck

- Entity without substance. A lightweight shell with no office, employment or governance is not accepted as an operating company by banks, tax authorities or partners.
- Accounts and payment rails. Bank onboarding is slow and single-tier; collections, payouts and currency flows have no one managing timing and conversion.
- Finance, tax and compliance. Bookkeeping, audit, filings, sales tax and annual compliance grow with volume; without a system, risk grows with them.
- Local relationships and information. No channel to state government, economic-development agencies or industry bodies; incentives and local resources stay out of reach.
- Financing and capital access. Future fundraising or listing needs an auditable operating record, a finance system and local standing a shell cannot show.
- Time. Building each function in-house takes years of hiring and alignment; the business window does not wait.

Service modules

- M5 — People and operations. Local hiring and payroll; office establishment; warehousing and logistics arrangements.
- M6 — Financing and capital. Bank credit-line introductions; working capital provided by licensed institutions and financial-advisory services; building the finance system and operating record future fundraising and listing require; capital and institutional introductions.
- M7 — Government relations and strategic partnerships. State incentive applications and liaison; relationships with economic-development agencies and industry organizations; introductions to local strategic partners.

How delivery works

Engagements run on a fractional model: an established operating team embeds with the client, so the company starts without building a full local team. Accounts, channels, relationships and operating capacity connect at the start; as the business grows, they convert in stages into the client's own capabilities. Light at the start — owned at the end.

01 Assessment — where the entity stands, what substance is missing. 02 Structure and plan — location, holding structure, licensing and tax path. 03 Formation and accounts — entity, EIN, bank accounts and registrations. 04 Infrastructure and operations — payments, finance, hiring and compliance running as one system. 05 Capital and government programs — credit lines, incentives and strategic partnerships, on a real operating record.
